8.8 Events (Event Planning made Easy)

8.8 Events is an event hub that brings an innovative and new concept of event management called 'Do it yourself' event planning. 8.8 Events bring to its clients a convenient and comfortable way of planning, organizing and sourcing for all the service providers you would need for that special event. 8.8 Events offer a variety of services. It accommodates personal requests from clients and makes sure that everything turns out exactly as the client expects. 8.8 Events strive to help client plan all event from the comfort of their home, with just a click, they have access to all they need to make their event a glamorous and eventful experience.

8.8 event is a web based platform that bring to clients all the needed experts and qualified hands that will help make their event a success. 8.8 Events will be providing services for two category of clients:

- ✓ Class A: Clients who want an event planned and need that perfect touch in their event
- ✓ Class B: Service provider (vendor) who provide services to help client have an eventful occasion, programme or event.

We are creating the perfect mart (website) where our clients can source and get all they would need about planning and setting up event without the fear of looking for the best hand that can provide quality services as we have all that covered. We have on the other hand created a platform where event planning vendor can showcase what services they offer, what skills they have, events they have covered for potential clients to see and make decision on who to engage for the services they need.

Our business model is totally that of bringing clients (individuals, company, business owners, couples etc) and vendors (Dj's, Mc's, Hall décor, Event management companies, Food vendor etc) together.

We are building a team of experts and professionals in the field of event development, planning and management. The team will be responsible for the day to day operation of the company and see to the growth of the company. Presently we are creating the Associate Partner Team.

Associate Partner: The responsibility of Associate Partner is as follow:

1. Identify and discover potential clients that will need the services of 8.8 events.
2. Identify and bring on board event service vendor.
3. Guide and orientate clients and event vendor on the importance and use of our event service platform and how to get the best out of our services.
4. Follow up with clients to make sure they get the vest service and are satisfied with our operation.

5. Building and maintaining relationships with customers: is responsible for communicating with customers to understand their needs, provide product or service information, and answer any questions they may have.
6. Assisting with sales: support sales representatives by performing tasks such as generating leads, scheduling appointments, and following up with prospects.
7. Conducting research: is responsible for conducting market research to identify new opportunities or gather information about competitors.
8. Providing administrative support: Associates will assist with administrative tasks such as preparing reports, organizing meetings, and maintaining customer databases.
9. Resolving customer complaints: Associates reps handle customer complaints and work to find a resolution that satisfies both the customer and the company.
10. Providing product support: Associates may provide technical support or assistance to customers who have questions or issues with a company's products or services.

Overall, the role of an Associate Partner is to support the sales and customer service efforts of a company by building relationships, conducting research, and providing administrative and technical support as needed.

We are proposing a service for equity ownership in the company, this means that for your services and carrying out your assigned job role, you will be entitled to a percentage ratio in the ownership equity of the company and this will be calculated from the net profit after all expenses and administrative cost have been sorted out.

Should you agree with this terms and condition, we will further discuss and share more detail information.
